

The Tyrolean Lech

A comeback in two acts.

Presentation at the 1st European River Summit in Sarajevo 27-09-2018

Anna Schöpfer, Institute of Ecology, University of Innsbruck

The Tyrolean Lech

A comeback in two acts.

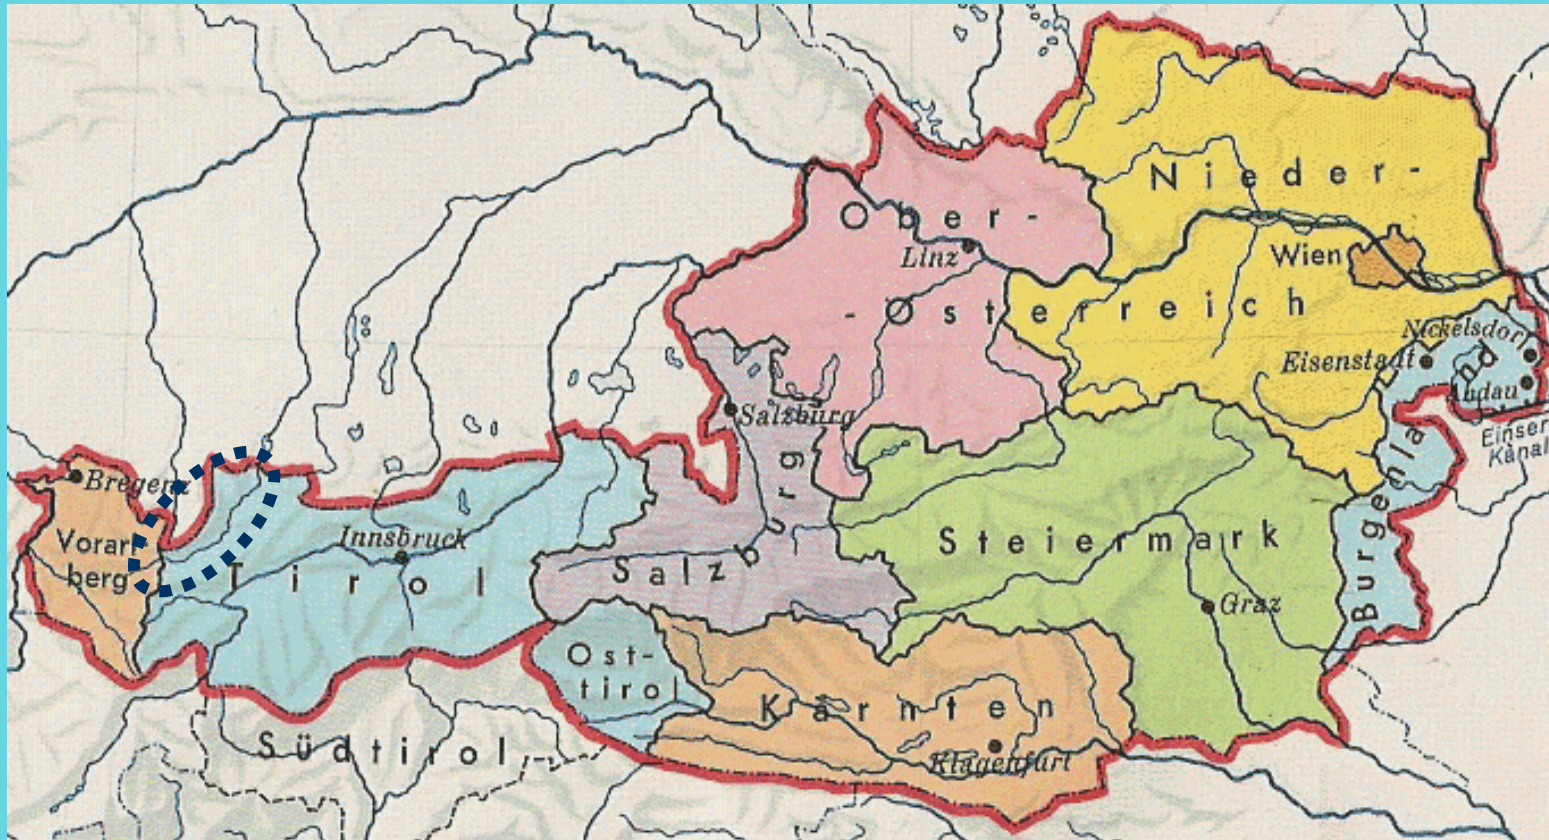

Figure 1. Map of Austria (Schier 1966)

The Tyrolean Lech

A comeback in two acts.

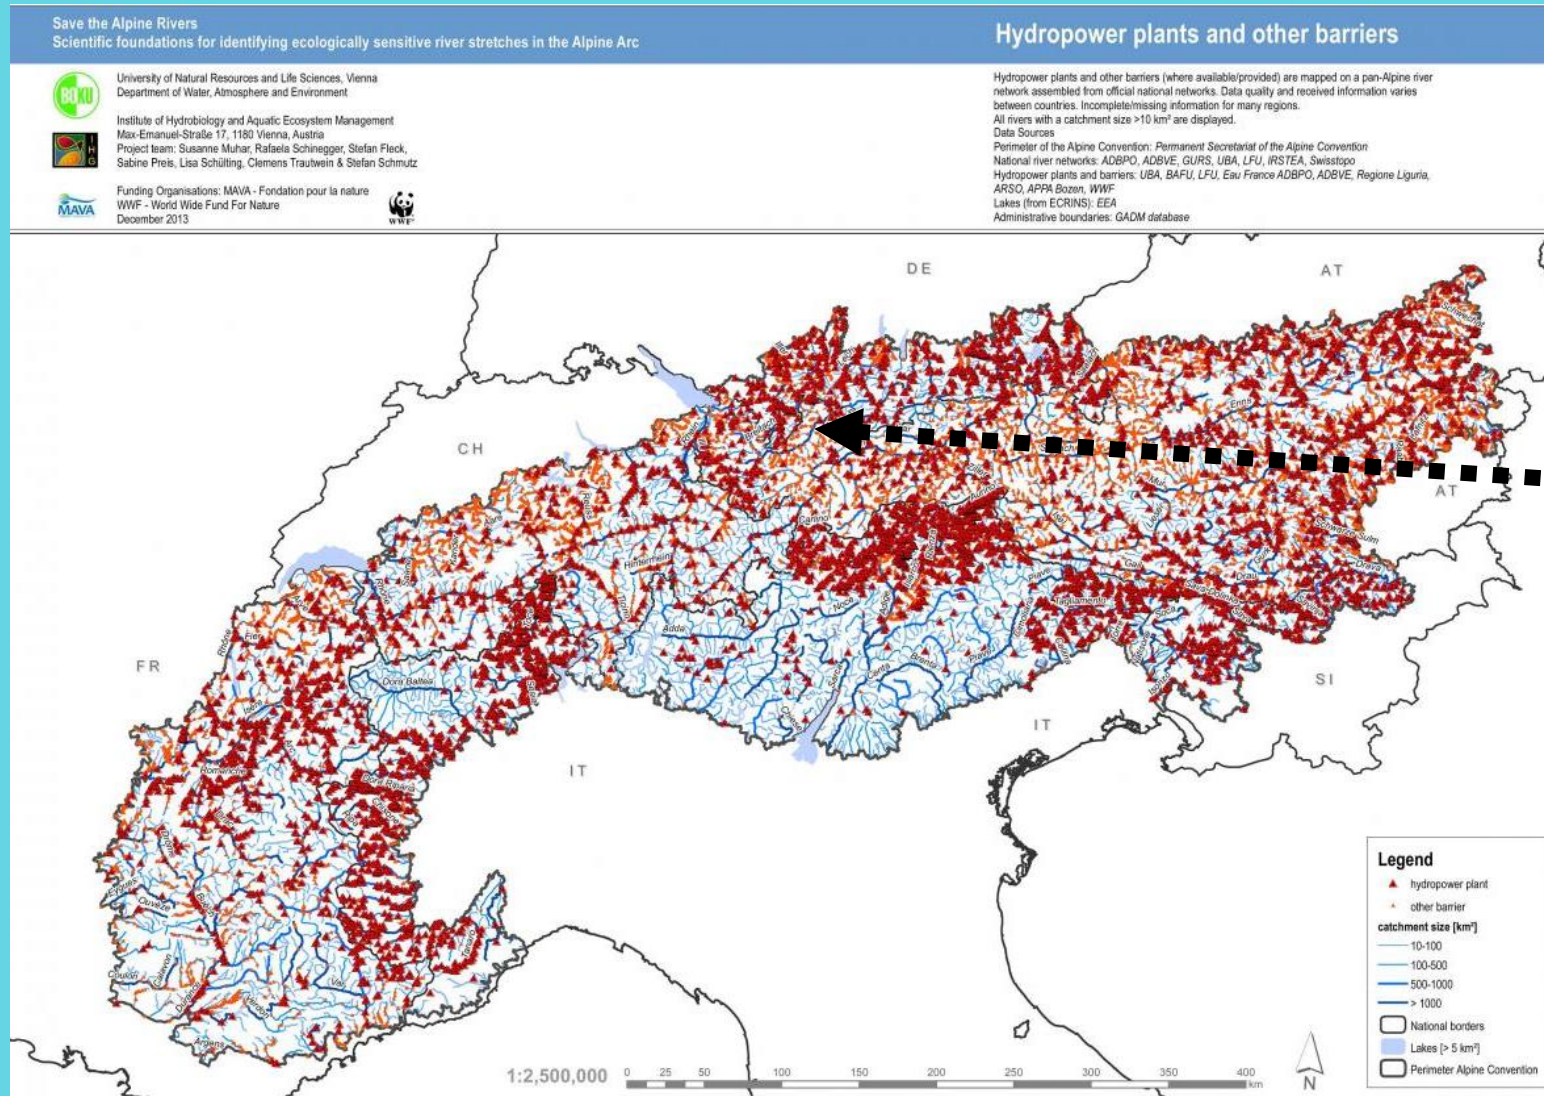

Figure 2. Hydropower in the Alps (Muhar et al. 2014)

The Tyrolean Lech

A comeback in two acts.

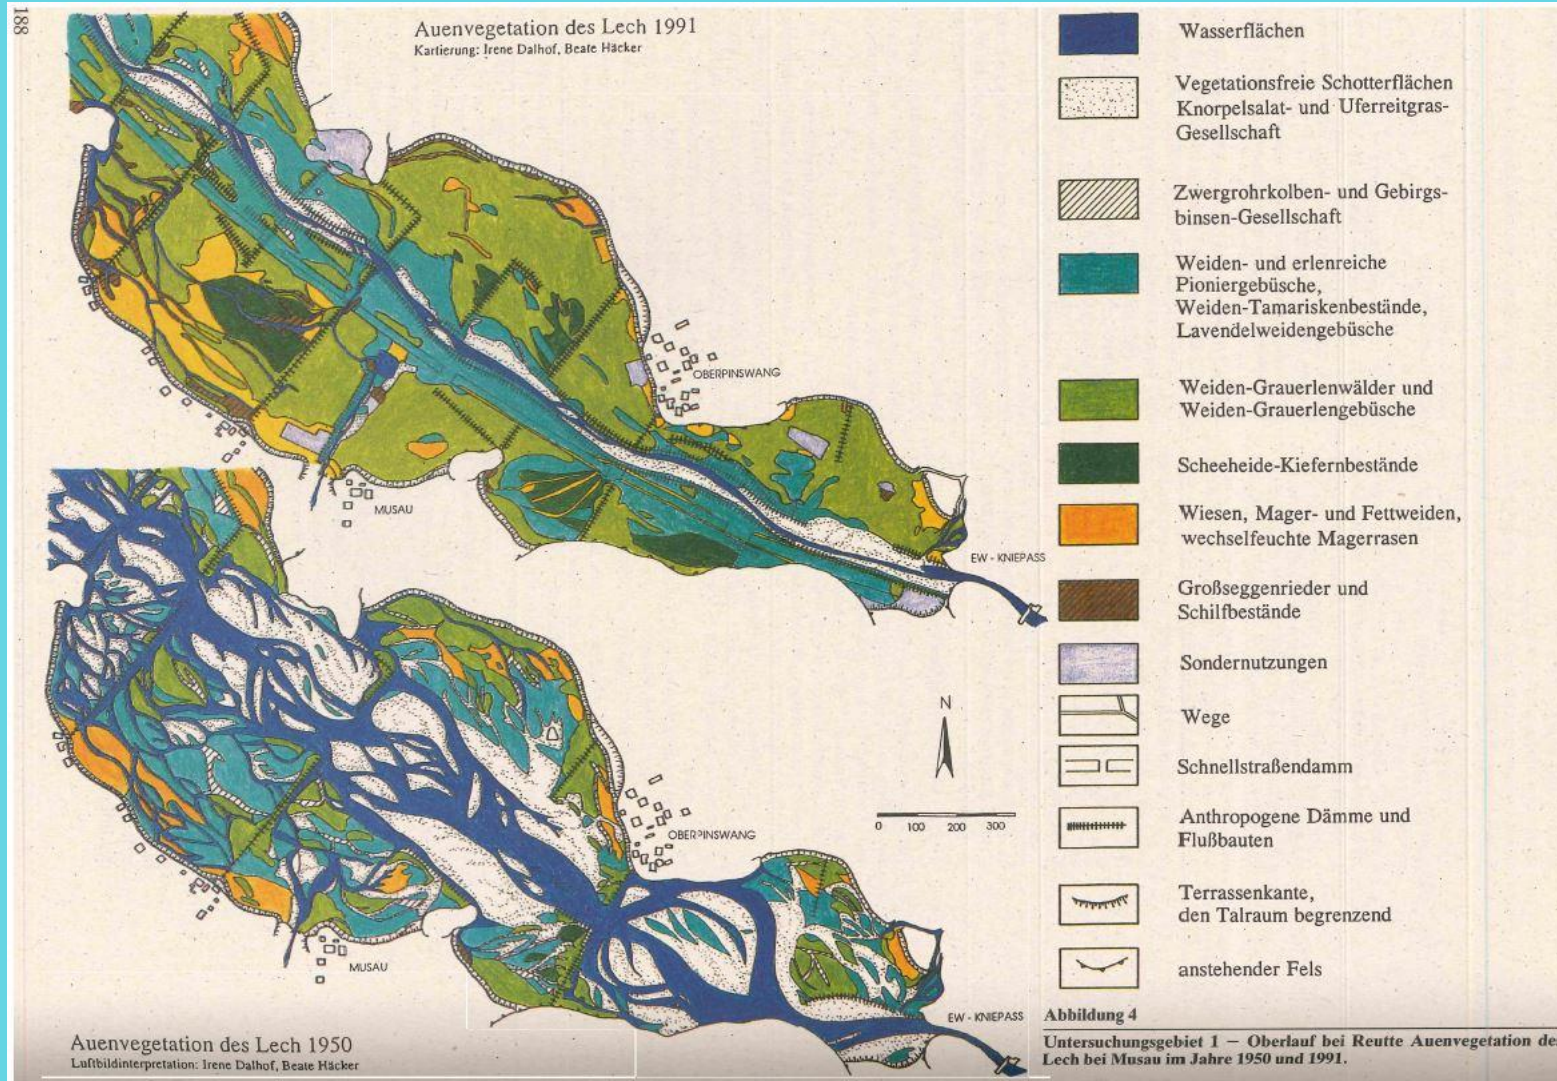

Figure 3. Change of the floodplain from 1950 to 1991
(Dalhof und Häcker 1995)

The Tyrolean Lech

A comeback in two acts.

©Life Lech

Figure 4. Floodplain of the Lech close to Weißenbach, habitat of the speckled grasshopper (Bryodemella tuberculata)

The Tyrolean Lech

A comeback in two acts.

Figure 5. Removal of riprap structures

2001 - 2006

2016 - 2021

The Tyrolean Lech

A comeback in two acts.

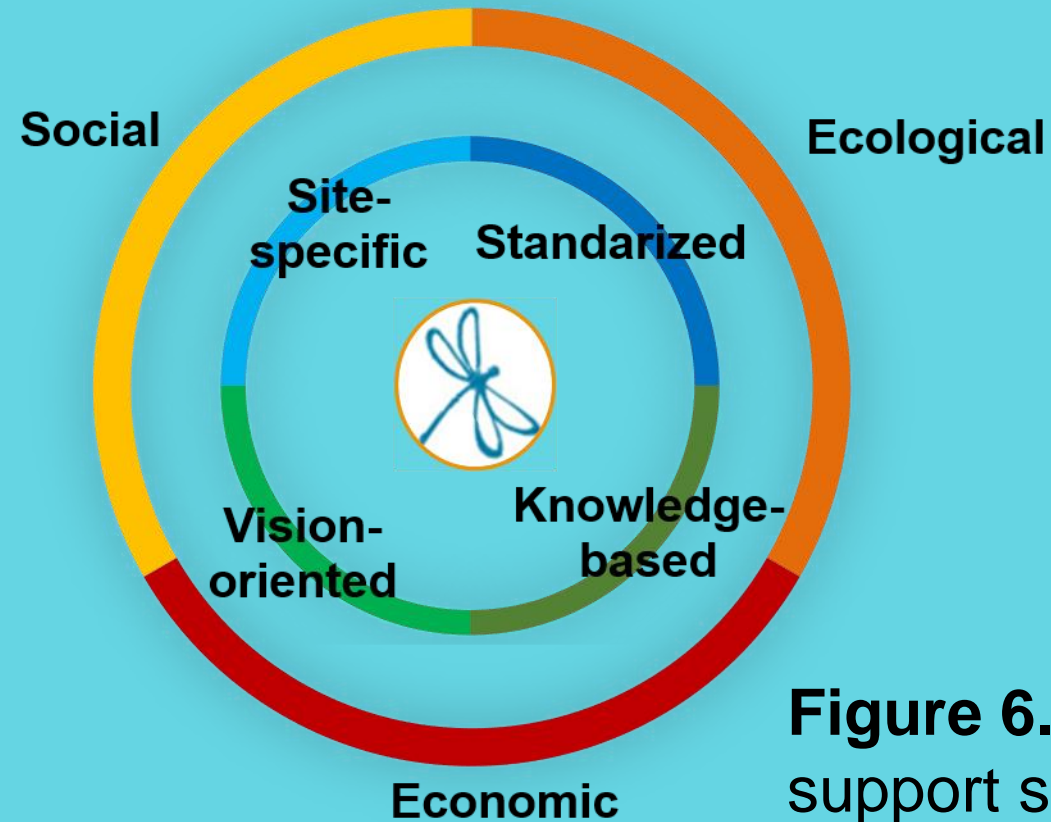

Figure 6. Decision support system for conservation planning

The Tyrolean Lech

A comeback in two acts.

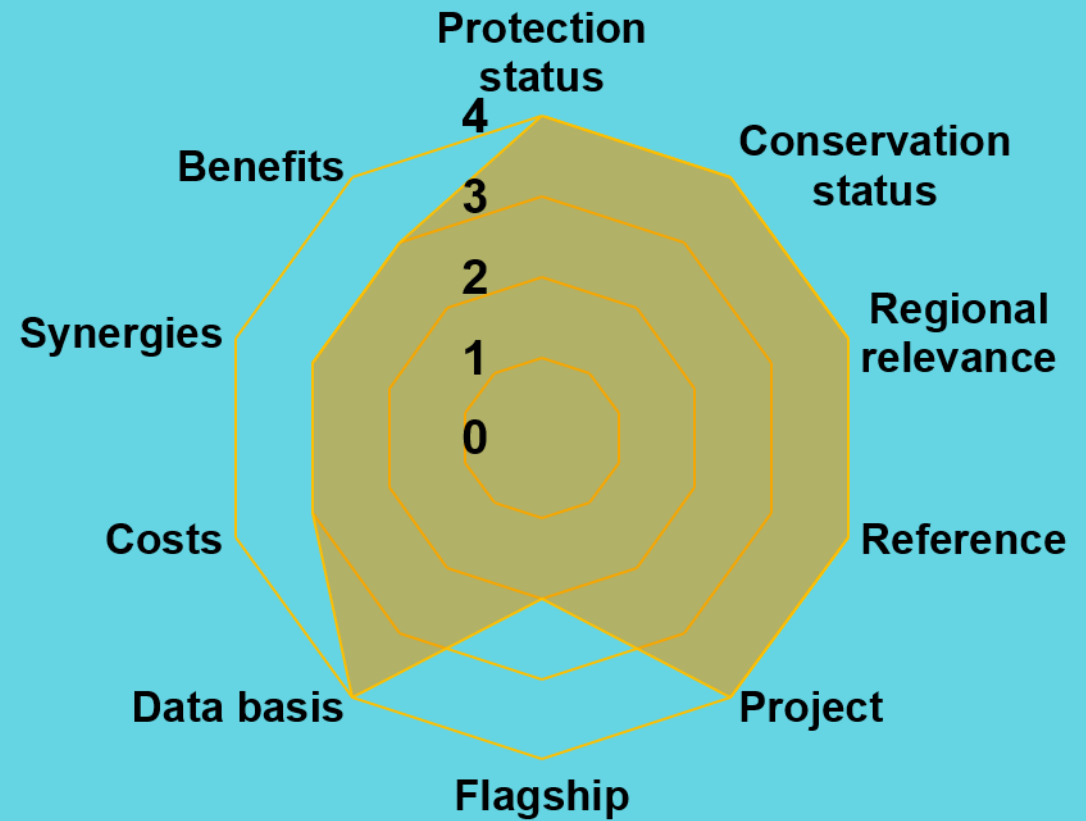

Figure 7. Multimetric scaling of the dwarf bulrush (Typha minima)

Thank you for listening!

